1 The International Social Survey Programme

The International Social Survey Programme (ISSP) is a continuing annual programme of cross-national collaboration. It brings together pre-existing social science projects and co-ordinates research goals, thereby adding a cross-national perspective to the individual national studies.

It started late in 1983 when SCPR,¹ London, secured funds from the Nuffield Foundation to hold meetings to further international collaboration between four existing surveys - the General Social Survey (GSS), conducted by NORC in the USA, the British Social Attitudes Survey (BSA), conducted by SCPR in Great Britain, the Allgemeine Bevölkerungsumfrage der Sozialwissenschaften (ALLBUS), conducted by ZUMA in West Germany and the National Social Science Survey (NSS), conducted by ANU in Australia. Prior to this, NORC and ZUMA had been collaborating bilaterally since 1982 on a common set of questions.

The four founding members agreed to (1) jointly develop modules dealing with important areas of social science, (2) field the modules as a fifteen-minute supplement to the regular national surveys (or a special survey if necessary), (3) include an extensive common core of background variables and (4) make the data available to the social science community as soon as possible.

Each research organisation funds all of its own costs. There are no central funds. The merging of the data into a cross-national data set is performed by the Zentralarchiv für Empirische Sozialforschung, University of Cologne. Since 1996, the archive has been aided in its work by ASEP, one of the Spanish member institutes in the ISSP.

In 2001, the ISSP has 38 members; the founding four - Australia, Germany, Great Britain and the United States - plus Austria, Bangladesh, Brazil, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, Cyprus, the Czech Republic, Denmark, Finland, Flanders (for Belgium), France, Hungary, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Mexico, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, the Philippines, Poland, Portugal, Russia, Slovakia, Slovenia, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Taiwan, and Venezuela. By 2003, these had been joined by Korea (South) and Uruguay while Bangladesh had ceased to belong to the ISSP.

The annual topics for the ISSP are developed over several years by a sub-committee and are pre-tested in various countries. The annual plenary meeting of the ISSP then adopts the final questionnaire. ISSP questions need to be relevant to all countries and expressed in an equivalent manner in all languages. The questionnaire is drafted in British English and then translated into other languages.

The ISSP is unique in a number of ways. First, the cross-national collaboration between organisations is not ad hoc or intermittent, but routine and continual. Second, while necessarily more circumscribed than collaboration dedicated solely to cross-national research on a single topic, the ISSP makes cross-national research a basic part of the national research agenda of each participating country. Third, by combining a cross-time with a cross-national perspective, two powerful research designs are being used to study societal processes. The ISSP is also one of the few cross-national studies to conduct and publish study monitoring reports of the annual studies. These are appended to the relevant codebooks and are downloadable from the archive web pages. Other projects, such as the European Values Study have, in fact, adapted the ISSP study monitoring questionnaire for their projects.

3 ISSP Modules 1985-2003

1985	Role of Government I	Attitudes towards the government plus general political attitudes.
1986	Social Networks I	Ego-centred network survey in the Claude Fisher tradition ("to whom would you turn") plus a series of questions concerning the structure and composition of respondents' networks.
1987	Social Inequality I	Opinions and attitudes toward inequality in terms of rich and poor and privileged and underprivileged.
1988	Family and Changing Gender Roles I	Attitudes towards women as part of the labour force and possible conflicts with traditional roles of men and women in society, general attitudes to the family.
1989	Work Orientations I	General attitudes to work and leisure, work organisation and work content.
1990	Role of Government II	Replication of the main topics of Role of Government I (1985).
1991	Religion I	Attitudes towards traditional religious beliefs and topics now connected with secular social ideologies.
1992	Social Inequality II	Replication of the main topics of Social Inequality I (1987).
1993	Environment I	Attitudes to the environment, nature and pollution, together with questions assessing knowledge of science and environmental issues.
1994	Family and Changing Gender Roles II	A partial replication of Family and Changing Gender Roles I (1988), with new questions.
1995	National Identity I	Questions on attitudes to aspects of national life and culture, citizenship, minorities in society and to foreigners.
1996	Role of Government III	A partial replication of Role of Government II (1990), one third new.
1997	Work Orientations II	A partial replication of Work Orientations I (1989), one third new.
1998	Religion II	A partial replication of Religion I (1991), with new questions.
1999	Social Inequality III	A partial replication of the Social Inequality modules from 1987 and 1992, with new questions.
2000	Environment II	A partial replication of Environment I (1993), with new questions.
2001	Social Networks II: Social Relations and Support Systems	Based on Social Networks I (1986), with new questions.
2002	Family and Changing Gender Roles III	A partial replication of Family and Changing Gender Roles II (1994), with new questions.
2003	National Identity II	A partial replication of National Identity I (1995), with new questions.

Modules planned

2004	Citizenship I	A new module. ²
2005	Work Orientations III (in preparation)	A partial replication of Work Orientations II (1997), with new questions.
2006	Role of Government IV (in preparation)	A partial replication of Role of Government III (1996), with new questions.
2007	Leisure Time and Sport (in preparation)	A new module.

4 Contents of the Social Networks II Module

The 2001 module was based on the 1986 Social Networks module.

The replications and new questions are explained in table 1. ISSP modules are developed over a minimum period of two years during which a multi-national drafting group prepares several questionnaire drafts in accordance with the decisions taken at general assembly meetings. These drafts are circulated to ISSP members for input and commentary. A final draft version is discussed and signed off at the general assembly meeting prior to the year of fielding. Several drafting group countries, including Germany pre-tested a draft version of the questionnaire (n=100) to provide the general assembly with statistical data.

The members of the drafting group for Social Relations and Support Systems 2001 were Austria (convenor), Chile, France, Germany, the Philippines and the United States.

The table below outlines the topics covered in the module and indicates which were new and which were replicated. The questionnaire item numbers are given on the left in the first column. The variable labels in the second column are those of the international data set. Note that while many of the 2001 questions cover the same or similar topics to questions in the 1986 module – as reflected in the last two columns of Table 1 below–, formulations are frequently different as a result of major restructuring of questions.

² Module is finalised and available from the drafting group or secretary.

5 The German Module

The study description sheet below was submitted to the archive with the 2001 data. We expand somewhat on the information contained in this in sections which follow. A detailed questionnaire on the 2001 fielding was completed by ISSP members, including Germany, in 2001 and 2002 and will be available in 2004 on the GESIS web site. The German study monitoring questionnaire for the 2001 modules will be available on the GESIS web site.

Table 2: ISSP Study Description Form: 2001 GERMANY

Study Title:	ISSP 2001 Germany – Social Networks II: Social Relations and Support Systems
Fieldwork Dates:	25.2.2002 –17.8.2002
Principle Investigator:	Dr. Janet Harkness, Prof. Dr. Peter Ph. Mohler
Sample Type:	Names and addresses from registers of inhabitants kept by municipalities. Adults of 18 and older living in private accommodation.
Fieldwork Methods:	Self-completion questionnaire, interviewer in attendance. Background variables were asked in a computer-assisted personal interview (CAPI).
Context of ISSP Questionnaire:	Self-completion questionnaire following on from a 45 minutes CAPI interview (ALLBUS). ISSP 2001 fielded in split with ISSP 2002.
Sample Size:	1369
Response Rates:	real numbers for (W) western and (E) eastern states
	N=3327	W=2291	E=1036	A – Total issued (total sample)
	N=359	W=255	E=104	B – Ineligible (address vacant, wrong ages, etc.)
	N=2968	W=2036	E=932	C – (= A–B) Total eligible
	N=1369	W=936	E=433	D – Total ISSP 2001 interviews received
	N=1599	W=1100	E=499	E – (= C–D) Total non-response
	N=938	W=620	E=318	F – Refusals
	N=149	W=96	E=53	G – Non-contact (never contacted) *
	N=512	W=384	E=128	H – Other reactions
	N=287	W=207	E=80	H ₁ – interview not carried out correctly
	N=116	W=88	E=28	H ₂ – ill, incapable
Language:	German
Weighted (yes/no):	No
Weighting Procedure:	Sample for eastern part of Germany deliberately over-samples the five eastern federal states. If all of Germany is taken as the unit of analysis (rather than the eastern and western states) weighting is necessary. Weighting factor for western states: 1,18796; weighting factor for eastern states: 0,59369 (recoding of v3 is needed)
Known Systematic Properties in Sample:	None for the total sample; realised interviews oversample well-educated respondents
Deviations from ISSP Questionnaire:	ISSP substantive questionnaire: v22 (optional item) not asked in Germany; v33 omitted in German questionnaire by mistake Background variables: URBRURAL omitted by mistake
Publications:	Blohm, Michael et al., Konzeption und Durchführung der "Allgemeinen Bevölkerungsumfrage der Sozialwissenschaften" (ALLBUS) 2002, ZUMA-Methodenbericht 2003/12; For further information see ISSP bibliography on the ISSP homepage (http://www.issp.org/biblio.htm)

* G –Sample unit (person) not contacted.

5.1 Translation of the Source Questionnaire

Two independent translations were made of the new questions in the module. These were discussed in a group meeting with members of the ISSP team, a survey translation expert and members of the fielding department at ZUMA. After the pre-test, a few further changes were made to the translation.

5.2 Sample

The ISSP modules for 2001 (Social Networks II: Social Relations and Support Systems) and 2002 (Family and Changing Gender Roles) were fielded together with the ALLBUS 2002 study in a split. The ALLBUS sample in 2002 was designed to yield a representative sample of the adult population (18 years and older) living in private accommodation in Germany, including foreigners able to complete the questionnaire in German. The sample was drawn from official registers of inhabitants kept by municipalities throughout Germany in a two-stage design. First the communities and sample points were selected randomly and then named individuals randomly selected from each sampling point. Full details of the sample are presented (in German) in the methods report on ALLBUS 2002 (Blohm et al., 2003).

5.3 Pre-testing

Pre-testing for translated versions of source questionnaires differs from pre-testing of questionnaires which do not yet have a finished form. Irrespective of what a pre-test of a translation seems to indicate, only a limited number of changes can be made if the source questionnaire has been finalised. The ordering of questions, for example, cannot be changed, nor can the types of questions or response categories used, since these changes would raise many issues of comparability.

Pre-testing in the sense of a 'trial run' can indicate how long administration can take, highlight lay-out problems, and to some extent, point to difficulties in comprehension related to translation. In our experience with translated questionnaires, cognitive pre-testing provides more directly useful information. In an ask-the same-question approach, changes of these kinds have to be made while the source questionnaire is still being developed and tested.

ZUMA conducted a cognitive pre-test after normal administration of the questionnaire, to probe comprehension of key topics and new questions (Prüfer and Oberhaus, 2000). The fielding agency, INFAS, carried out regular time pre-tests.

5.4 Fielding

Fielding began on February 25th 2002 and ended on August 17th 2002. The ISSP module was a self-completion questionnaire administered at the end of the ALLBUS CAPI interview. A total of 1369 questionnaires were completed for the module (936 in western states; 433 in eastern states). 97,2% of ALLBUS respondents agreed to complete the ISSP module. The total ALLBUS response rate was 47,3%. Based on this, the response rate for the ISSP was 46,1% (46,0% in western states; 46,5% in eastern states). While ISSP modules are designed as self-completion questionnaires, for various reasons about 8% of the cases were administered as interviews (8,7% in western states; 7,6% in eastern states). In addition, a few respondents were administered the wrong questionnaire in terms of the split design: 25 respondents got the Social Relations and Support Systems module instead of the Family and Changing Gender Roles module and 19 respondents got the Family and Changing Gender Roles module instead of the Social Relations and Support Systems module.

5.5 Data Editing and Occupational Coding (ISCO 1988)

The fielding institute delivered a formally edited data set to ZUMA. ZUMA carried out additional data editing and prepared the data for merging in accordance with the ISSP 2001 set-up from the ISSP archive. Occupational coding (current or former occupation) was also carried out at ZUMA using the ISCO 1988 scheme. For details of ISCO 1988, see, for example, Appendix I of the cumulative codebook of the GSS, 1972-1998 (Davis and Smith 1999).

6 Data Availability

The data were deposited to the Central Archive for Empirical Social Research at the University Cologne, the official ISSP archive since 1986. Together with Analisis Sociologicos, Economicos y Politicos (ASEP), Madrid, the archive is responsible for merging the ISSP data and producing the international merged data sets.

2.1.1.1.1.1	Questionnaire
2.1.1.1.1.2	Obligatory background variables
2.1.1.1.1.3	Sources and comments

In the first part of this questionnaire, we would like to ask you about your family and friends. For example, about how often you see or visit them, and when you turn to them for help or advice.

Q.1 We would like to begin with your brothers and sisters. How many adult brothers and/or sisters - we mean brothers or sisters who are age 18 and older – do you have? (We mean brothers and sisters who are still alive. Please include step-brothers and -sisters, half-brothers and -sisters and adopted brothers and sisters)

_____ adult brother(s) and sister(s)

I have no ADULT brothers or sisters ...

If no adult brothers or sisters, CONTINUE WITH QUESTION 5.

2.1.2 Q.2 Of your adult brothers and sisters, with whom do you have the most contact?

Please tick one box only.

Soziale Beziehungen und Hilfeleistungen

Sehr geehrte Damen und Herren, wir danken Ihnen für Ihre Teilnahme an unserer Forschungsarbeit. Die Befragung ist eine international vergleichende sozialwissenschaftliche Studie, die unter Mitwirkung von öffentlichen Forschungsinstituten in fast 40 Ländern durchgeführt wird. In den beteiligten Ländern werden in diesem Jahr circa 40.000 Menschen befragt. In Deutschland wird diese Befragung vom infas Institut für angewandte Sozialwissenschaft durchgeführt. Auftraggeber ist das Zentrum für Umfragen, Methoden und Analysen (ZUMA), ein gemeinnütziges sozialwissenschaftliches Forschungsinstitut, das vom Bundesministerium für Bildung und Forschung und den Bundesländern finanziell getragen wird.

Hinweise zum Ausfüllen des Fragebogens

Auf die Fragen gibt es weder "richtige" noch "falsche" Antworten. Antworten Sie bitte so, wie es Ihrer Meinung am besten entspricht.

Wie wird der Fragebogen ausgefüllt?

Bitte beantworten Sie die Fragen in der vorgegebenen Reihenfolge. Überspringen Sie eine oder mehrere Fragen nur dann, wenn im Text durch einen Pfeil darauf hingewiesen wird:
